Why Students Should Be Involved in Education R&D

“Education is made for the students. There is no one who knows what they need more than them. So, including students in R&D for education is in adults best interest.”

“Because students will be able to make changes to a system they have little control over and learn greatly about what goes into the things they learn. It’s one thing to have an idea of how it works than actually working on it with all the limitations and guidelines in place.”

“I believe that the students are the voice of their education and to be a part of the development and research is one way to get students interested and involved in their learning.”

“Student need to be involved as these programs and products affect them. If they are allowed in, then they can give their own ideas.”
